En Voyage

Fantastic would be a quick one-word summary of this year's Europe tour. About 30 students, 3 teachers, and a couple of parents and guests travelled all over Europe seeing the sights in only two weeks. Not only were the day- time tours interesting, but at night we took to the cities and REALLY experienced the culture. The romantic gondolas of Venice and the hot beaches of Nice were just some of the highlights. Long overnight train rides tested our patience, and late nights and early mornings made us all look like zombies. Special thanks go to Mr. Grey, Mrs. Towner, Mr. Anderson and Ms. Beckwall. Without them this exciting trip would never have happened. And to anyone planning on going next year a simple word of advice, "Don't expect to sleep".

— David Tang

Say Brie The grade 11's give us a big French smile.

You can do it! Mrs. Towner and Mr. Robertson try out the stilts.

I'm tall, I'm tall Carly Hall and Sarah Pearse discover a new way of becoming tall.

I can't believe we're doing this Genevieve Teevan, Kyle Galbraith, Pat Murdoch and Alec Dutchak help each other wash dishes.

— Shannon Plumsteel

Paris by day Bryce Milliken, Gemma Hyslop, Christina Barbato, Becca Miller, Doug DeBeck & Chas Woodyer show off postcards and smiles.

Gimme' a drink The tour stops by an old English pub to warm toes and satisfy thirsts.

You haven't slept in how many hours? The Europe tour of 32 contemplates insanity while waiting for the water-taxi in Venice, Italy.

Catchin' Some Z's Mr. Grey & Mr. Anderson sleep off the jetlag on their way to London.

10:30am... the beginning of our great inter-continental trek. We got off to a great start, arriving in Cardiff, Wales, having gone 29 hours without sleep. You can bet we were in prime condition for the next day's game, which we did lose. Actually we lost them all, but not without some pride. We learned a lot and we picked up a style of play developed by guys who had a rugby ball thrust into their hands as soon as they could walk upright. They were good. However, we showed THEM some things too. We taught many forward packs that although we may not be the most graceful of ruckers, with a bit of aggression, we pull through.

Although the tour was based on rugby that's not all we did. We saw sights in Wales and England, The Big Pit, Carreg Cannan, Cardiff Castle, Cardiff Arms Park, Warwick Castle, Twickenham Park and we even played on Rugby School's "Close" pitch. It was almost spooky to walk in ruins that might have been occupied by your ancestors almost 1000 years ago. Wales was a lot like home except for the fact that it lacked Douglas Firs and it was a lot windier. England, however, was much different in that it had all been clearcut years ago and was much flatter.

The people were very welcoming. We got more than just a taste of Welsh hospitality and English cooking (fish and chips, beans, toast & chips, sausages & chips...). Our billets were great and made us feel at home. It was an adventure to remember.

Super photographers Jordan Dale and Dave Robinson can even do it with their eyes closed

Good One! Tyler Sismy and Steel Althouse crack a few jokes while developing.

The photo club has developed into a very productive activity. Through everyone's positive (not negative) attitude, we've all learned how to take better pictures, how to develop them and never to stick our fingers in the stop bath. With all of Mr. Lane's weird and wacky field trips (street corners and wrecking lots?!) and a promising team of photographers, we've all improved and had fun in the process, and we will forever remember DSFWP!

The Two P's

After a great start during second term in the new building, things just kept getting better! With a few experienced potters and many more rookies, it has been a time of learning and marked (if slow!) improvement.

Our instructor, Margaret, is a master potter with more than twelve years experience. She is always supportive when your clay skids off the wheel, and lands in your lap; at least until it is time to clean up.

A highlight of our pottery year has been a trip down to Victoria to see the Mongolian pots at the Royal Museum. We applied our new-found knowledge to a new batch of pots, and we are soon to do a special firing of 'raku' - a technique that produces beautiful iridescent reds and blues.

The school has recently purchased a pugmill, which now lets us re-use the clay that ends up in our hair and spattered on the walls. It should be well worth it when you consider that Pottery Activity has gone through 500 pounds of clay so far!

Pottery is a great art form. It teaches three essential things: practice makes perfect, patience is a virtue, and you are never too old to make mud pies. Our door is always open, so come see for yourself!

— Graham Reynolds
